Bill background

The Washington State 2022 Supplemental Budget included $100,000,000 from the Coronavirus State Fiscal Recovery Fund for the Health Care Authority (HCA) to address behavioral health treatment access issues resulting from workforce shortages and impacts of the COVID-19 public health emergency.

The funding had to be provided as one-time assistance payments to nonhospital-based community behavioral health treatment providers receiving payment for Medicaid services contracted through the Medicaid Managed care Organizations or Behavioral Health Service Administrations.

HCA had until October 1, 2022 to complete the distribution of these funds and had to adhere to the following requirements:

- (a) HCA must enter into appropriate agreements with recipients to ensure that this stabilization funding is used for purposes of this subsection. Prior to the receipt of funds, providers must agree to expend these assistance payments by June 30, 2023.
- (b) Allocation methodologies must be administratively efficient and based on previous Medicaid utilization, modeled after prior nongrant-based allocations, so that funding can be distributed timelier than through grant or application-based allocations. HCA must consider individuals served through Medicaid and behavioral health administrative service organizations contracts in its allocation methodology.
- (c) Providers must use the funding for immediate workforce retention and recruitment needs or costs incurred due to the COVID-19 public health emergency. Funds may also be used to support other needed investments to help stabilize the community behavioral health workforce including, but not limited to, childcare stipends, student loan repayment, tuition assistance, relocation expenses, or other recruitment efforts to begin adding new staff and rebuilding lost capacity.
- (d) By December 1, 2022, the authority must submit an accounting to the office of financial management and the appropriate committees of the legislature that includes a list of all recipients of funding under this subsection and the amount of funding received.
- (e) Within the amounts appropriated in this subsection, the authority may utilize up to $200,000 to conduct a qualitative analysis of how recipients utilized funds for workforce retention and recruitment, which may include hiring a consultant and a survey of selected recipients. The authority must report on the findings of the qualitative analysis to the office of financial management and the appropriate committees of the legislature by December 1, 2023.
